Ed Gerety is one of the top professional youth speakers and leadership trainers in North America. His passion, humor and ability to connect with the hearts and minds of his audience has inspired people in all 50 states, Canada and Europe reaching over one million people and counting. His books and presentations focus on respect, character, appreciation, leadership, attitude and making a difference.

Combinations is an awesome, uplifting book. It really makes you look more into you life and how to make it better. I was fortunate enough to see Ed Gerety in person at the NHS National Convention in Orlando and he was amazing. He created a sense of self confidence and leadership in all of his listeners. I recommend this book for anyone who is a leader and is looking to improve their whole outlook on life. Combinations is a book that you can learn so much from and apply it in your daily life.

This is a very good and effective book mot only for improving leadership skills, but also for finding out more about yourself. It's a jumpstart into journaling which is something that should be considered by everyone, especially teenagers who want to do something in this world. It promotes writing skills and good habits, I would recommend this for anyone.
